

As a Director in Dell's Diversity & Inclusion group, Consuelo Rodriguez is responsible for the external brand strategy for Dell. She manages the partnerships with external organizations to advance the diversity and inclusion strategies for the company and for outside communities across the globe. She has held multiple leadership roles across diversity, including the management of the ERG strategy, along with consulting with various business units and Latin America leaders to further their respective diversity progress. She also leads the global planning process for the bi-annual review with the Global Diversity Council, chaired by Dell's CEO.

Previous to D&I, Consuelo held numerous finance and accounting leadership roles across Dell. She led global teams and partnered with the top most leaders in their financial and P&L management through a consulting approach to drive profitability for the company. In her accounting positions, Consuelo led many internal self audits, while driving the fiduciary lens required to maintain a high level of integrity in the financials.

Consuelo is a graduate from the University of New Mexico, majoring in Accounting. She is a Certified Public Accountant. Consuelo serves on the Corporate Advisory Board of the National Society of Hispanic MBA's, having just finished a 2 year term as their board chair. She is a graduate of Austin's Hispanic Leadership program and is personally active in several Austin community organizations. She holds a green belt in Dell's six sigma business process improvement program.

Consuelo has been recognized for her work in diversity via several Dell specific recognitions. In addition, she was previously named the ERG Program Manager of the Year by DiversityBestPractices and frequently tapped by DiversityInc as a subject matter expert to share ERG best practices in various forums.
